The image shows a 'User Registration' dialog box for a service called 'Pluck'. The dialog has a dark title bar with the text 'User Registration'. Inside, the 'Pluck' logo is on the left. Below the logo, there is text explaining why to register: 'Why register: Can't share. Can't sync. What can you do? More marketing stuff.' On the right side, there are three input fields: 'E-mail address:' with the value 'busey@pluck.com', 'Password:' with six asterisks, and 'Confirm Password:' with six asterisks. A reference number '300' with an arrow points to the 'Confirm Password' field. Below these fields, there is a note: 'E-mail addresses must be verified before the account can become active. In future versions you will be able to register multiple e-mail addresses.' and another note: 'Passwords must be at least six characters in length and must contain at least one number or symbol.' Below the password fields, there is a question 'Do you use multiple computers?' with two radio button options: 'Yes' (selected) and 'No'. At the bottom, there is a small text: 'Select yes if you use multiple computers and you want Pluck to help you keep your web experience synchronized between them.' At the very bottom of the dialog are three buttons: '< Back', 'Next >', and 'Cancel'.

The image shows a software dialog box titled "User Registration" with a subtitle "Multiple Computers Synchronization Options". It contains two radio button questions. The first question asks if the user wants Pluck to automatically synchronize favorites information between multiple computers, with "Yes" selected. The second question asks if the user wants Pluck to import favorites from Internet Explorer into Pluck Favorites, also with "Yes" selected. A note below explains that synchronization only works with Pluck Favorites and that existing favorites must be selected for synchronization. A link for "What is synchronization?" is provided. At the bottom, there is a message stating that synchronization can be turned on later if not activated now. Navigation buttons at the bottom include "< Back", "Next >", and "Cancel". A reference numeral "300" with an arrow points to the right side of the dialog box.

The image shows a software dialog box titled "User Registration". Inside, there is a section titled "E-mail Notification Options" with the subtitle "Sharing Links with Users Who Are Not Registered with Pluck". The main text asks: "If a user does not have Pluck installed, Pluck will automatically e-mail the shared link, note, and other information to the user. Is this ok?". There are two radio buttons: "Yes" (selected) and "No". Below this, a paragraph states: "If you do not enable this option, attempts to share links with users who are not Pluck users will not be work." Another paragraph asks: "If you would like to include an additional message in this e-mail type it here:". This is followed by a text input field with the placeholder "Enter Text" and a vertical toolbar with icons for bold, italic, underline, and bulleted list. To the right of the text field, there is a reference number "300" with an arrow pointing to the toolbar. At the bottom of the dialog, there are three buttons: "< Back", "Next >", and "Cancel".
